august 2024

dear journal,
yay! summer is finally here, and i'm super-duper excited! no more school, just lots of fun with family and friends.
and guess what? my parents surprised us with a family trip to the countryside. i have just arrived, and i can not contain my excitement.
i have a feeling that it's going to be the most amazing summer ever. so get ready for a whole lot of fun and adventure!

How to Skip a Stone

Pick the right stone: flat, uniform thickness, flat in your palm, and no heavier than a tennis ball. The heavier and the rock won't skip off the water.	Hold the stone between your thumb and index finger, with your thumb on top and your index finger hooked along the edge.	Stand facing the water at a slight angle. With your foot in front, pull your arm back like you're going to throw a rock or a ball.
As you throw the rock, rock your wrist back. Right before the release, give your wrist a quick flick. This will create the right angle for the stone to skip across the water.	Throw out and down at the same time. For maximum skip, the stone should cross the water at a 30 degree angle. Skipsters have found this to be the optimal angle for stone skipping.	Have fun skipping stones with your kid(s)!

just like DAD taught me!
